

An Overview

DISC Adolescent Treatment Center is a residential treatment program that provides a comprehensive array of services to address the substance abuse and/or behavioral health issues of adolescent males.

We believe that chemical dependency is a primary disease that affects the physical, emotional, and spiritual health of those it touches. Our goal is to empower adolescents and their families with the hope that a chemical free life is attainable, the belief in one's ability to live chemical free, and the strength to work for it.

Specifically, learning how to apply their sobriety tools in day-to-day living. This phase includes weekly group counseling, random urinalysis, case management, attendance at support group meetings and referrals for outpatient counseling, if necessary.
